Dear Parent/Carer

The National Education Union (NEU) is the union that has voted to take industrial action tomorrow. A large number of teachers at Little Hill are members of this union and therefore are within their rights to support them in taking part in strike action.

The industrial action is in response to the below inflation pay increase for teachers and increasing funding concerns in education with consequences for the resources used for your children, recruitment, and retention of high-quality staff across the sector.

As things stand, no agreement has been reached between the government and the union, so industrial action will go ahead tomorrow.

At present, Little Hill Primary School will be open for all pupils on the first strike date tomorrow, 1st February 2023. I will update you with regards to future strike dates and if plans change for tomorrow.

Thank you for your support with the matter.

Yours sincerely

Mrs Pankhania
Headteacher
